Wanderer Mast Hit

LIGHTNING SPLITS HISTORIC FLAGPOLE

The violent thunderstorm of Friday afternoon loosed a bolt of lightning which split the flagpole at Shipyard Park from top to bottom. The discharge tore a hole in the flag and followed the lines to the ground splitting the upper spar and the great lower mast which is the mizzen mast of the Mattapoisett built Wanderer. The mast will be taken down and the town will try to have it repaired. Cape Cod Cabinet will have the job of restoration if it is possible.

The flag has been flying 24 hours a day from this pole since lights were installed in the spring. It was planned to fly the flag until the conclusion of the Viet Nam conflict. The great height of the mast makes the flag visible from all parts of the village.

The mast was erected about 1930 by Everett Stetson, a powerful man who engineered many of the heavy projects of the town such as sea walls and wharves. At that time it was on Barrow Wharf in New Bedford. Mr. Stetson went to the wharf with 2 sets of wheels. Men loafing on barrels observed the preparations to move the huge load and one of them sauntered over and said to Stetson, "We'll give you a hand for $2. apiece." The busy Mr. Stetson replied, "That's fine, you go right back and sit yourself down and if I need you I'll give you a call." He laid the wheels on their side, rolled the mast between them, righted the two sets by means of a tackle, hitched up the horses and let driver Lem LeBaron drive the rig away all with no fuss and no help from the open mouthed idlers.

Mr. Lem LeBaron recalls that it was quite a trick maneuvering the long load on the trip to Mattapoisett. He took the Adams Street route with the great spar through Fairhaven.

To erect the mast, Mr. Stetson built a triangular support and hauled her up with tacklers. He then cut the upper spar locally and whittled it into shape right on the site. He built a taller triangle and hoisted that into place on top of the mast.

The oak staves around the base of the mast were on it when it was in place on the ship. The upper joint is sealed with canvas to keep out the salt water.

There is a very good chance that this irreplaceable historic landmark can be restored and certainly everyone in town hopes to see it fixed and back in place once more.

Lightning also struck and split a tree standing next to the Dennis Sylvia's elephant tree.

tapoisett Historical Society, sorts some of the many valuable pieces that were packed in boxes by thieves early Sunday morning. Very fine cooperation between an observant citizen and Mattapoisett police on Sunday morning stopped a robbery at the Historical Society's museum on Church Street. About 12:30 A.M. a neighbor noticed that the museum, which is kept lighted at night, did not look right. The windows seemed dimmer than usual. As she looked, the door of the museum opened and a man looked out and then quickly ducked back. The neighbor called the control center where Lemuel Le Baron was on duty and he contacted a cruiser drive by Patrolman Robert Silveira which was at the museum in a minute or two. The other cruiser driven by William Simpson was on the scene very shortly after. The two policemen entered the museum and cornered the two thieves in the new carriage shed. The men had entered through a rear window which they jimmied. They had pulled down all of the shades and had broken locks on the glass cases and systematically collected the loot in cardboard boxes. In addition to the regular museum pieces, they also took their pick of the private collections which have been on display throughout the week.

Because of the very fine police work following a prompt call, there was no loss and the robbers are in custody. They are New Bedford men.

The museum asks that its appreciation be extended to the Mattapoisett Police Department and to the person who alerted them and stopped this robbery. They have completed the job of restoring the items and are open for the regular visiting hours as usual.

ored at a testimonial banquet held at the Colonial Coach. The Mattapoisett Water Commissioners arranged the dinner for Mr. Le Baron who retired as superintendent of the Water Department very recently. Mr. Mac Kenzie was master of ceremonies. About 150 people were present. Mr. LeBaron was presented with an electric sander and a check for $190. by the committee. He was also presented with a citation by the American Legion's Florence Eastman Post 180 for his many services to that organization. This includes the suggestion that Veterans Memorial Park be created at Ned's Point to honor veterans of all wars.

Mr. LeBaron expresses his thanks and great appreciation to the committee and to all of the people who joined in this expression of esteem.

Circle to Hold Sale

ANNUAL SUMMER SALE

Hilltop Friendship Circle will hold its annual sale at East Mattapoisett Quaker Sunday School rooms and grounds on August 20th, opening at 11 A.M. There will be snacks, food, candy, plants, white elephants, aprons and fancy articles on sale. Mrs. Ruth Shaw, Water Street, is president of the Circle and acts as general chairman of this event.

Mrs. Edna L. Borden, secretary, hopes to get her feet on the ground by then. She has been the center of festivities for over a week because of her eightieth birthday. A very lovely corsage from the Circle was delivered for her to wear to the Plymouth County Republican Club's barbecue at Bridgewater, and it kept fresh to wear the next three days.

In spite of being so busy celebrating, Mrs. Borden took time out to write airmail letters to the two delegates and two alternates from this district, informing them of her choice for President.

New Shell Heating Oil has been refined by a special Shell patented Hydro-desulphurization process. Billions of sulphur and nitrogen atoms are removed from the oil. The results are clear: this new oil is bright and clean - a very stable heating oil for your burner. This super cleanliness and stability helps save you money.

New Shell Heating Oil also has a special additive that helps guard burner openings against heat robbing deposits. The combination of a properly adjusted burner and Shell Heating Oil helps reduce both fuel bills and service calls. New Shell Heating Oil is available now. Call us today for complete facts.
